

Faces of AGENT ORANGE

Texas

TOMMY THORNTON

By Jim Belshaw

"I remember being sprayed several times. We didn't have any idea what it was they were spraying. When we were out on the road between Pleiku and Dak To, we were recovering a couple of tanks and a bulldozer, and they sprayed us. A bunch of planes, C-130s, I think, came over. They were spraying along the road."

— Tommy Thornton

Tommy Thornton had four children, all daughters — Tracy, Hope, Angela, and Chelsey.

Tracy was born in 1970. She had numerous problems from birth. She stayed sick for about the first six months of her life. Thornton says he never really got an answer as to why. Eventually, Tracy also was found to suffer from severe dyslexia. But by then, she had been labeled.

"Retarded," he said. "But she wasn't."

She died in 2002.

"She had surgery on her back," he said. "They say she committed suicide, but I don't believe it. She woke up in pain, took some medication, went back to sleep. Woke up in pain again, took more medication, went back to sleep and didn't wake up. I think she overtook her pain medication. It's easy to do, especially when they give drugs that are dangerous. She was 33 or 34. My memory's crap, man. When I need to remember something, I can't."

Hope was born a year after Tracy. She, too, suffered from numerous problems.

He provided a list:

Migraines, seizures, chemical imbalance causing syncopal episodes, Barrett's Esophagus in first stage, gerd (gastroesophageal reflux disease), acid reflux, irritable bowel syndrome, polyps, colitis, mitral valve prolapse, asthma, bronchial spasms, chronic bronchitis, chronic pneumonia, interstitial cystitis, diabetes, neuropathy in legs, cervical cancer, cancerous tumor removed from abdominal wall, cancerous tumor removed from left breast, losing hair and teeth.

"This is the short list so far," he said. "There may be more to come."

Angela, born two years after Hope, is a cancer survivor and unable to have children of her own.

"She's doing OK, but I've kind of lost contact with her," he said.

The youngest, Chelsey, is 15 years old.

"She's losing her hair, clumps of it come out," he said. "And she has bad pain in her legs that hasn't been diagnosed."

Faces of AGENT ORANGE

TOMMY THORNTON's Story Continued...

He served in Vietnam in 1967-68. He said he worked on recovery teams and spent a lot of time out on Vietnam's roads, bringing back helicopters, tanks, trucks, APCs, and even men killed in action.

"I traveled on every road you can name in Vietnam for one reason or another," he said.

When he returned to the states, and after his release from the Army, he had digestive problems for about two years. He suffered from acne as well. He continues to suffer from chronic fungus infections, athlete's foot, and other related problems.

"I'm on the Agent Orange Registry with the VA, but I didn't get nothing out of it," he said. "I had skin problems all the time."

He's 61 years old and lives alone, about fourteen miles outside of Woodville, Texas.

"I didn't connect any of it to Agent Orange until way later, because nobody ever said anything about it," he said. "I didn't know nothing about it until somebody said I was showing signs of stuff connected to Agent Orange."

Those conversations were a long time coming for him. He didn't talk much about Vietnam.

"You have to understand that for a lot of years I didn't talk to people much," he said. "That was a lot of my problem getting my VA benefits. I didn't talk a lot about what I did, and I didn't talk a lot about what I went through. It was eating me from the inside out. And when I did try to tell someone about what was bothering me, they'd say things like that didn't happen. They'd say I was lying. Those people don't understand. They didn't care. So I was diagnosed as being paranoid schizophrenic and all kinds of weird stuff. But I was just suffering."

He said he's talked to the VA about his children but that nothing comes of it. He is haunted by the guilt he feels for having "caused" the problems for his children, and he now worries about grandchildren and the possible health problems they may face as they grow older.

"I stay pretty much to myself," he said. "I haven't worked since 1986. I've had back problems since I got back from Vietnam, and they tell me the pain in my legs is peripheral neuropathy, and it's directly related to Agent Orange, but I don't know and I don't care. But when it starts showing up in my kids ... man, it sucks. I don't get it. But I guess it's how our government works — denial, denial, denial."

Significant numbers of Vietnam veterans have children and grandchildren with birth defects related to exposure to Agent Orange. To alert legislators and the media to this ongoing legacy of the war, we are seeking real stories about real people. If you wish to share your family's health struggles that you believe are due to Agent Orange/dioxin, send an email to mporter@vva.org or call 301-585-4000, Ext. 146.
